its treason against the Government which it was sworn to defend, and for its robbery of the Treasury which it was sworn to protect.

BOBE TREASON.

Dispatches received at Washington yesterday, announce that Gen. Twiggs has surrendered to Texas all the forts, arms and munitions of war in that State belonging to the Federal Government. This is daubtless a part of the programme of treason connected by that arch-traitor and robber, Floyd, before an exposure of his villables compelled him to seek safety in laber. White House. That much of the busine as-wealth of the former has been made through the fur trade carried on with the Indians on the Westerre plains and the Rocky Mountains, may secount to some extent for this fact. Through that commerce they have been made familiar with the receive and the receive and the receive sufficient of the receive su should not be inaugurated, and that he about not leave the city of Baltimore alive, if indee in o ever entered. This information was of six authentic a character, that Mr. Lincoln, ou

And while this is the fact with reference to the St. Louis dealers, it is also true of those of this city, that their trade has grown upon their hands, from regions less remote, quite as rapidly as they were prepared to accommodate it. And this may be the case for some years to come. But whether it is or is not, a far-reaching asgacity will not fail to look ahead to a period which cannot be very temote, when the trade of those western regions will be of immense value, and which, if second to the foot of the Rocky Mountains, and it has a swell as the first the very face of Gen. the Missouri River, from which point Northward and W-stward her Merchapts may compete with those of St. Louis in many articles of traffic. Through this channel business relations should be established without delay between our city and the country in question, with the confident assurance that, in a very short period, through the completion of the railroads across Iowa, we shall be placed in much more direct communication with it; after which the merchants of Chicago will have it in their power to control almost its entire trade. We urge upon our more intelligent and enterprising merchants the duty of giving a portion of their attention and business energy to this matter, confident that whatever seed they may now sow in that promising country will, before many years, give back not merely a hundred, but more than a thousand fold.

Let The Beloit Journal of the Elst inst. has an angry-protest against our right to say any falling concerning the proposed act of the Wiscousin Legislature to impair the validity of mortgages. DANGER GENERALLY APPERHENDED.

It is difficult for me to say what the crewed might have done, had Mr. Lincoln appeared before it. The general impression is that there would have been scrious trouble. Certain is is that the very worst ch racters in Baltimore were there congregated, to restrain whom under existing circumstances, would have been impossible. It is known that many dissolute boys and men were fully supplied with rotter eggs and other missiles, which they found no use for in Mr. Lincoln's absence. A police man informs me he thinks they were intended to bespatter and maltreat the Baltimore White Awakes, who are held to be obnoxious, as soon as they appeared in the presence of the

The universal desire of all good, respectable citizens, was to see Mr. Lincoin controoned treated and safely protected. If any heilist design existed to assassinate lim, it was wholly unknown to them, and no calamity would have caused greater regret, or more shamefully elagraced our city.

The dispatches to Northern journals, charging upon us the deliberate purposes of having the President elect killed in passing through Baltimore, are infamously libelious. What desperadoes might have designed or done, loy a citizens cannot be held accountable for.

All things considered, there were chances and indications of real danger, springing from an unusual excitement and apparent desperation characterizing certain classes. All rejoice in Baltimore being deprived by Mr. Liscoin's wise forethought, and the better counsel of his friends, of the disgrace which might have fallen upon us by indiscreet actions, had he suppeared publicly among us at the present epoch of excitement.

He want back from Harrisburg to Philadelphis, took the night train thence to Baltimore,

HOW THE CONSPIRACT WAS DISCOVERED.

HOW THE CONSPIRACT WAS DISCOVERED.

The following is the true reason of the change of programme, as derived from an authentic and reliable source: Gen. Scott, who has had some of the most experienced and vigitant detectives in Baltimore employed of lace, was apprised by them of a matured couplracy to essessinate Mr. Lincoin on the arrival of himself and suite in that city. The detective said he procured his knowledge by joining various associations of the denigerous and lawless classes which lafest Baltimore, and, as a member of the same, he became possessed of the design and the details arranged for its execution. He arrived in Washington some few days since, and it was then that Gen. Scott matured the scheme of bringing in the President exception. of its date. The passion given for that making this acceptance retroactive in its effect, nucley—to stop his pay from that time—did not appear, noder the extraordinary circumstances by which it was surrounded, at all satisfactory to the committee. The resignation of the officer in charge of the Marine Hospital at Pessacola was accepted by telegraph, and he was thereby quabiled to take upon himself the same position under the insurent force without any interruption. And that of Lieutenant is, T. Chapman, dasted on board the Brooking, when about to sail under orders, was likewise accepted by telegraph, and he was thus relieved of any inconvenience he would otherwise have experienced in being carried to sea against his wishes.

TOUCEY'S COMPLICITY, WITH TREASON.

would oligarine have experienced in being carried to sea against his wishes.

TOUCET'S COMPLICITY WITH TREASON.

The course thus pursued by the Secretary in accepting these resignations appears, under the circumstances, to be most extraordinary. No custom of the department in ordinary times can justify it—no want of confidence in the loyalty of these officers can excuse it; for if their previous conduct had justified any such auspicion, it also demanded investigation beforehand, which would, as to some of them, have disclosed to the Secretary complicity in treason, calling for course-mariial, rather than honorable dicharge. A prudent regard for the public safety would, no doubt, have justified, if not imperiously demanded, that some of the officers should have been early removed from delicate and responsible pratitions of trust, by the substitution of officers more reliable. But these very considerations appear to the committee to have forbidden the furnishing any such facilities for engaging in hostilities against the floverament, as the relief from the summary trial and punishment of a courtmantial secured by the acceptance of their resignations.

The course pursued by the Secretary has resulted in furnishing those angaged in an attempt to overthrow the operament with the skift, experience and disciplies which education at the expense of the government and long service in the navy have conferred upon our own officers. The Committee cannot understand how this course is consistent with a proper discharge of the duties of his office by the Secretary at his course is consistent with a proper discharge of the duties of his office by the Secretary that the resignations have been accepted in ignorance of any misconduct, for no resignation should, at any time, be accepted until there is reson to know at least that the officer tendering it had been guilty of no unofficer like conduct derivation in the claim set up in behalf of the Secretary that the resignations have been accepted in ignorance of any misconduct, for n public rights disregarded. Tet, during all this time, that most important arm of the public defense, the entire may, has been beyond the reach of orders, however great the emergency. To the committee this disposition of the naval force at this critical period seems most extraordinary.

The permittiing of vessels to depart for distant seas after these unhappy difficulties had broken out at home; the omission to put in repair and commission ready for orders a single one of the twenty-eight ships dismantied and unfit for service in our own ports, and that, too, while $640.639.79 of the appropriation for repairs in the havy the present year remained duet deserving a court-martial. But the cicumstanes connected with these regionation the apparent purpose for which they wet made, and the hostile attitude which the man ner of their tender clearly discussed, calle upon the Secretary to refrain from that hast in their acceptance which permitted of neithe delay nor inquiry. The committee cannot ap prove, but are compelled to condems, such failure in the discharge of public duty and they therefore recommend the adoption of the accompanying resolution:

Benoised, That the Secretary of the Navy, in accepting, without delay or inquiry, the resignations of officers of the navy who were in arms against the government when tendering the same, and of those who sought to resign that they might be relieved from the restraint imposed by their constituted sathorities of the country, has committed a grave arror, highly pridictal to the discipline of the serydex, and injustions to the honor and efficiency of the may; for which he deserves the consure of this floore.

An Dawe grave notice that he should as unit for service in our own ports, and that, too, while $480,809.70 of the appropriation for repairs in the navy the present year remained unexpended, were, in the opinion of your committeed, gravelerrors in the administration of the Navy Department, the consequences of which have been manifest in the many acts of lawless violence to which they have called attention. The committee are of opinion that the Secretary had it in his power, with the present naval force of the country at his command, and without materially impairing the efficiency of the service strond, at any time after the settled purpose of overthrowing the government had become manifest, and before that purpose had disveloped itself in overtacts of violence, to station at another within reach of his own orders a force equal to the protection of all the property and all the rights of the government and the citizen as well as the flag of the country from any outrage and insult at any point on the entire Atlantic scaboard. The fathere to do this is without justification or excuse.

[Correspondence of the Chicago Tribuna.]

Danven Crrv. Feb. 3, 1861.

I arrived in Denver on the 4th day of July. My first impressions of this place were favorable. After spending a couple of days here, I took passage to the mountains and the mines. Took plenty of time to look through the mining districts, and became satisfied of their richmess. I then returned to Denver, and on the List of August engaged in the anction and commission business, which is now being conducted under the firm of Burton, Higgins & Collins. This place was first settled with persons mostly from eastern Kansas, and a large proportion from Leavenworth. The supplies for this region of country come directly or indirectly from St. Louis. It appears to me that the business men of Chicago bave not exercised that shrewdness and foreight for which they are noted, in letting St. Louis secure to herself what is already the largest-sind most desirable trade west of Lake Michigan. At the present time there are agents of several St. Louis houses here bustly engaged soliciting orders and thereby securing the business for smother year. Is business as good in Chicago that the merchante cannot spend time to investigate this matter? Or are they still waiting to see the evidence of the richness of this Fike's Peak country by large shipments of good dust being sent to their counters? If the etter from a Chicago Ma LDEST MUSIC HOUSE IN SPRING IMPORTATIONS And bundreds of others.

[Quife an excitement was manifested yesterday, among our citizens, cansed by the arrival at our leves of the new steamer Minnesota Belle, Judson Cartwright, Master. About six hundred persons were present to welcome her. This is a line boat, and belongs to the Peoris and St. Louis Packet Line, and her arrival inaugurates a series of regular arrivals and departures of boats belonging to them. Credit is due the line for their energy in opening the river to the public. The Minnesota Belle went down last night with a full freight for St. Louis. F. E. RIGBY.
